Golden, CO & The American Mountaineering Center

Golden, Colorado, nestled at the foothills of the Rocky Mountains, offers a mix of old west charm, scenic beauty and world-class outdoor recreation. The friendly downtown offers opportunity for strolling, shopping and soaking up the history and culture of the area while close-by Clear Creek boasts access to hiking, rock climbing, kayaking, biking trails, fishing and more.

The American Mountaineering Center is the nation's premiere facility for education, research, conversation and information about the mountain environment. The center boasts a state of the art museum and library, conference space, auditorium, climbing wall and spectacular views of North and South Table Mountains.

The Bradford Washburn American Mountaineering Museum opened its doors in February 2008 as America's first and only museum dedicated to the heroism, technology, culture and spirit of mountaineering.

From the storied history of the 10th Mountain Division to the daring first ascent of Mt. Everest, learn about Mountaineering's exciting history and meet larger-than-life figures and modern day heroes who have brought the challenge to where it is today.

This one-of-a-kind facility will allow visitors to live the ascent of the world's most inspiring mountains through educational displays, interactive exhibits, breathtaking photos and climbers' personal stories. Jump a crevasse, hang out in a port-a-ledge and find your route up Mt. Everest!
